Occupational health is complicated and time consuming. You have pre-employment needs, workplace safety, and injury management. OSHA, MSHA and other regulatory agencies have dozens of standards that require regular medical screening and surveillance. While the patchwork of solutions to keep it all together can be confusing and overwhelming to manage.

We solve those challenges for you as a single partner for all your needs. From pre-hire drug screening and physicals, to injury management and regulatory compliance testing, we have you covered for the entire employee health lifecycle.

The best part is that we have three methods of service delivery to meet the needs of any company and situation. Our fleet of 140 mobile units and technicians conveniently come direct to your worksite. We have a network of 6,500 occupational health care clinics where we coordinate all aspects of the employee visit. And our technology-enabled platforms give you on-demand and self-administered options.

The breadth of our services combined with the flexibility of delivery brings you convenience and efficiency, reduces costs, and gives you peace of mind.

ONE PARTNER

- 1 Contact for all employee needs
Protocol across all your locations
Place for data

We provide the most convenient way to stay compliant and keep your employee safe and healthy, all with one company. You have one point of contact for all of your occupational needs with the reach of a nationwide provider, and flexible delivery methods to accommodate all of your facilities. This ensures consistent protocols with a trusted partner and gives you consolidated reporting for your entire program.

PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

It all starts with program development. We analyze your compliance and site-specific needs, demographics, collective bargaining agreements, and more. Using incident logs, three-year loss run data, MOD/DART/TRIR rates, and your input, we create a customized program tailored to you.

Our approach combines our service delivery methods to minimize costs while ensuring employee safety and compliance. You'll save money, boost productivity by keeping employees onsite, and appreciate our white-glove service that manages the details for you.

Best of all, all your data—from pre-employment to retirement—is centralized on one platform, to help align safety, HR, and risk management.

THE EXAMINETICS ADVANTAGE

Improve ROI

Save out of pocket costs by choosing the most cost effective delivery method for desired services, and reducing recordables and injuries. By understanding your demographics and current program, we can scale alongside your company giving you the most economical option tailored to you.

Single Source

We are a single source, turnkey partner from start to finish. Our broad portfolio of health and compliance services combined with multiple options for delivery, means we can help with needs across safety managers, occupational nurses, HR professionals, and risk management. All of your data is stored in one place in our client portal for streamlined reporting and oversight of your program across your company.

Nationwide Access

With a national scale, you can ensure convenient testing anywhere in the United States and get consistent service and protocols across all of your locations. We service over 3,500 companies across the country providing occupational healthcare for companies of all sizes.

Unrivalled Service and Support

Our white glove service means we take care of everything to take the burden off you. With our internal teams we ensure our services meet your needs by scheduling clinic visits and follow-ups directly, coordinating on-site visits, providing live support, and working alongside your team to improve your safety programs and account overall.

Medical and Audiological Expertise

Our clinicians have the education, experience and credentials to help you optimize your occupational health and safety programs. Hearing programs are supported by our licensed team of in-house audiologists. With an understanding of occupational health and regulatory standards, our experts provide the support you need.
